5 Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below it. 10

The test of good book is whether to read it once or more than once. When we read a great book again and again we find new meanings and new beauties in it. A book that a person of education and good taste does not read more than once is probably not of much worth. But we can't consider the judgement of a simple individual without any fault. The opinion that makes a great book must be opinion of men. Even great critics fails to judge books properly. Carlyle for example could not tolerate Browning. Byron criticized many great English poets. A man must be many sided to give correct estimate of so many books. We may doubt the judgement of the critics at times. The best of libraries for a poor man would be a library having such great books which have passed the test of time.

Questions :

- (i) Why should we read a book ?
 - (ii) What is the real opinion about a great book ?
 - (iii) How can a man give a correct estimate of books ?
 - (iv) What kind of books should a poor man have ?
 - (v) Provide a suitable title to this passage.
